

SJSU JS 181

Office of Diversion & Reentry Services STUDENT INTERNSHIP PROGRAM

We are seeking candidates who possess the following attributes:

- Strong research abilities.
- Excellent organizational skills.
- Proficient in written and verbal communication skills.
- Superb interpersonal skills.
- Experience collaborating effectively within a team environment.
- Advanced proficiency in Microsoft applications.
- General computer literacy in other standard software applications.

Internship Details:

- The program is specifically intended for SJSU Justice Studies students enrolled in the JS181 course.
- Duration: 120 hours over the semester (approximately 10-12 hours each week).
- Offered: Each academic Fall/Spring semester, with limited availability.

WHAT AWAITS YOU!

As a Reentry Services Intern, you shall embark on a journey filled with impactful endeavors, including:

- Delving into research on exemplary practices and policies surrounding adult reentry.
- Keeping a vigilant eye on state legislation pertinent to reentry policies and the realignment of public safety.
- Engaging in occasional projects, such as refreshing resource information and aiding in client surveys.
- Assisting staff in the registration and guidance of reentry clients toward service providers.
- Potentially connecting with clients who are often transitioning directly from custody, where a gentle hand and an understanding heart are essential for those navigating stress or frustration.

This role offers a treasured opportunity for students interested in careers in public safety, government, or public policy, especially for those passionate about supporting individuals recently released from custody.
